Towns

There are five towns on the Darkside of Xeen. Alamar has placed a guard in front of each to prevent unauthorized entry, so you will need a pass to enter each town. The pass to Castlevew (the town you begin the game in) can be found just a few steps outside of town for 1,000 gold pieces. Vespar the Wizard in area B3 has the pass to Sandcaster, Geoffrey the Monitor in Sandcaster has the pass to Lakeside, and the pass to Necropolis is hidden in Lakeside. Only the Dragon Pharaoh can give you a pass to Olympus.

Castleview

The game begins with your characters receiving the Dragon Pharaoh's orb from Zelda the Herbalist at location ⑤. Whether you are starting a new Darkside game or are bringing characters over from Clouds, Castleview is a good place to prepare your characters for the challenges that lay ahead. We recommend that you spend some time to complete some of the quests inside Castleview and its sewer before you leave the safety of its walls.

Jethro the Cartographer will reward you for releasing his brother, Jasper, from the town jail. He will also exchange Joe's fake treasure map for a real one once you have freed Jasper.

The Town of Castleview

Madame Oorla (Neena) the Gypsy can be visited for advice if you are stuck and don't know what to do next. She will point you in the right direction.

Ellinger's Tower rises above the town, forbidden to visitors. You can only enter it if you have the key. The only person in town with a key is Nadia the Hoarder.

Nadia the Hoarder has lost her onyx necklace, and she wants it back. The necklace can be found in the sewer below the town. If you return it to her, she will give you the key to Ellinger's Tower.

Castleview Sewer

The sewer under Castleview is a nasty place, filled with rats and sewer slugs. Some small magic items can be found here, though, and the only way into some areas of Castleview is through the sewer. The entrances/exits in the sewer correspond with those in Castleview.

The Onyx Necklace at location ② should be recovered and returned to Nadia the Hoarder in Castleview. She holds Sewer drains sometimes hide weak magic items. Search them when you can.

Piles of trash also sometimes hide weak magic items. These are usually easier to get to, because sewer slugs often guard the passages leading to sewer drains.

Barrels of green and red liquid can be found in a couple of places in the sewer. Green liquid improves endurance, while red liquid improves might. Both varieties will make your characters sick, however.

Sandcaster

Next to Castlevue, Sandcaster is the most important town in Darkside. The town has a guild with a fine selection of spells, but there is a dispute over who should be running it. Xenoc the Wizard and Morgana the Sorceress hold de facto sway at the moment, but theirs is a violent and selfish rule. A reward awaits those who can topple them from power.

Natasha can be found at location ⑨. Natasha will enchant Ambrose's bridle for 50,000 gold if you bring it to her.

Lakeside passes are sold at location ⑩. You will be unable to enter the town of Lakeside without a pass!

Sandcaster Sewers

The sewer below Sandcaster is a lot like sewers everywhere: dark and dangerous. You will have to use the sewer to get under the wall that separates the town of Sandcaster from the Wizard's zone. Remember that the entrances and exits in the sewers correspond to those in the town above.

- ① Body building
- ② Exit to desert
- ③ Exit to Wizard's zone

Sewer Drains sometimes conceal powerful magic items. Search them if you dare: sometimes they conceal Beholder Bats instead of treasure.

The Sewer Gym has a book that teaches the body building skill and some powerful potions that increase might and endurance. The fee to enter is high, but worth it.

Lakeside

Once a bustling lake town, Lakeside has been converted into a Witch's haven. The Witches run an extremely profitable business kidnapping local peasants, turning them into monsters, and selling them as cheap labor and warriors to evil people. Lakeside has an excellent guild, but the rest of the business owners have been converted into minotaurs and are now guarding the Dungeon of Lost Souls.

- ① Guild
- ② Pass to Necropolis
- ③ Boat ride to Island of Lost Souls
- ④ Guild Membership

Bubbling Cauldrons are scattered here and there in the town. Some cauldrons turn drinkers to stone right away, others will reward a drinker with improved statistics once—then turn all other drinkers to stone. Pay attention to your clairvoyance gargoyles before you drink from these cauldrons.

Guild Membership is available for free for those who solve the riddle of the skull at location ④. The answer is "WITCH".

Cages with prisoners will yield good experience if you set their occupants free, along with gratitude and some free advice.

Lakeside Sewer

The Witches of Lakeside have purchased one of the magical statuettes stolen from Luna the Druid by the Thieves of the Southern Tower and stored it down here. You will need to be able to swim to move through these passages, so make sure all members of your party have that skill before you give this sewer a try.

- ① Magic Statuette
- ② Prayermaster

Discarded potions of Resurrection and Stone to Flesh litter the passageways. Though their original owners didn't think much of them, perhaps you can put them to use.

Joseph the Prayermaster at location ② will sell his skill for a mere 10,000 gold. This skill will add to your Cleric's spell points, and is worth every penny.

A Magical Statuette rests in an alcove at location ①. The statuette is one of the three statuettes stolen from Luna the Druid in area A3. Collect this one and the other two for a massive experience bonus from Luna.

Necropolis

Necropolis is a dead town. All the inhabitants are undead, and most of them don't like living visitors. The only town service available in Necropolis is the guild, which has some of the best spells in the game.

- ① Sandro
- ② Guild
- ③ Guild membership
- ④ Magical Statuette

Sandro the Lich sits on his throne at location ①. Sandro wishes to die, but he needs his heart returned to him before he can. The heart can be found in the sewer below this town. Sandro will fight you every time you visit him without his heart. Once you return the heart, Sandro will give you the key to the Dungeon of Death on the other side of the world and will allow you to take the magical statuette sitting at location ④.

Books of the Dead, vol. 1-9 await readers in alcoves around the town. You will have to have a very high intellect before you can read some of the books, and each reading will age your characters. We recommend that you do not read the books until you have returned the Jewel of Ages to Thaddeus the Fountain Keeper in area F4. Once you have done so, the Fountain of Youth will fix the magical aging that these books cause. Reading the books will award at least 999,999 experience points per reading.

Coffins for Liches hide very powerful magic items. You will need a might of at least 150 to open a coffin, and then you will have to face its owner in battle. The reward is worth it if you can survive the combat.

The Well of Death offers quick release to those tired of this mortal life. It has no other function.

Necropolis Sewer

The sewer below Necropolis is filled with lava due to its proximity to the volcanic mountains of the Northwest. You will need characters with either a lot of hit points or a lot of fire resistance to last long in this place. The treasure here is worth whatever risks you take to get it.

① Sandro's heart

Sandro's heart is kept in a box at location ①. Return Sandro's heart to Sandro for the key to the Dungeon of Death and one of Luna's magical statuettes.

Barrels of the food of the dead are scattered about the sewer. Eat from them if you dare: They cause great damage, but grant one permanent level to survivors.

Sewer drains hide powerful magic items. Be sure to search them all!

Olympus

Olympus can only be entered by those who have visited the Dragon Pharaoh. If you have made it this far, you are close to completing the game. Olympus is a full service town, and contains the Soulbox you will need to put Corak into in order to win the game. Olympus also contains the answers to many of the riddles in the game. There is no level limit on the Training Grounds in Olympus.

- ① Tavern
- ② Temple
- ③ Blacksmith
- ④ Training Grounds
- ⑤ Guild
- ⑥ Guild membership
- ⑦ Soulbox
- ⑧ Sewer Grate

Four statues, each with part of a poem revealing how to win Darkside of Xeen, are in the corners of the town.

Guild membership at location ⑥ is free. The Olympus Guild has every spell in the game.

The sewer grate at location ⑧ leads to the part of the sewer that leads to the Soulbox at location ⑦.

The Town of Olympus

Olympus Sewer

A trip through the Olympus sewer is the only way to get to the Soulbox in the town above. Watch where you step in this sewer: the sky squares will drop you to the ground (with damage) if you step on them.

- ① Cyrano Jones
- ② Password check

Cyrano Jones will sell you a tribble if you pay him. You shouldn't. Tribbles are worthless.

Sewer drains contain small pieces of paper that, put together, spell the word tribble. Tribble is the answer to the password check at location ②.

Towers

There are five towers in Darkside, one of which is in Castlevia. All of the towers require the proper key before allowing you to enter them. Each tower, except Ellinger's, has two Energy Disks in it. You will need to take Energy Disks that you find in the game and bring them to Ellinger so that he can restore Castle Kalindra. You cannot win the game without giving twenty Energy Disks to Ellinger.

Ellinger's Tower

Ellinger's Tower is located inside Castlevia. You will need to visit Ellinger a few times to get him to restore Castle Kalindra. The tower cannot be entered until Nadia the Hoarder has given you the key. Nadia can be found in Castlevia.

Tapestries conceal buttons that open passages and disarm traps. Be sure to search all the tapestries and push all the buttons you can find—it never hurts to push a button in here.

Two Books of Electricity and Fire resistance can be found on the second level of the tower. Each character can benefit, so make sure each character reads both books.

Crates contain boots and traps. Pay attention to your clairvoyance spell for advice on searching crates.

Cabinets can be opened to reveal powerful magic boots. The boots make good armor, and can be sold for a high price at the Blacksmith if you don't need them.

Ellinger sits on his throne in level four. Before you enter his room you will be asked "Who do you seek?". The answer is ELLINGER.

Great Northern Tower

The key to the Northern Tower can be found in the hands of Bosco, the Dwarf King, just outside the front door to the tower. The Tower is filled with puzzles and opportunities for experience, so it is worth it to complete the entire tower if you are trying to build up your characters.

- ① Chalice of Protection answer is "aie." Once ② Euphoria Throne you have the chalice, take it back to Bosco for your reward.

Magical books with riddles in them are hidden in cabinets throughout the castle. Here are the answers to the riddles in one easy place:

 Lesson 3: eeeoeaoueieeeee
 Lesson 4: oeooeieooooaei
 Lesson 5: oooaioeieou
 Lesson 6: aooaioeaeooae
 Lesson 7: iieeeeoeeeeouie

The Chalice of Protection is at location ①. You will need to answer a password to receive the chalice. The

There are six thrones of the emotions to sit on on level four. Never sit on the throne of the Dunce. It serves no useful purpose. If you sit on all of the thrones except Dunce and Euphoria and then sit on the Euphoria Throne at location ②, your characters will gain permanent statistic and level bonuses. This will only work once per character.

Great Southern Tower

The Southern Tower is the home of the Thieves' guild on Darkside. Thaddeus, keeper of the fountain, will give you the key to this tower if you visit him in area F4. This is the easiest of the towers in Darkside to complete.

Three Gongs can be found in this tower. The gong on level two will summon Thieves to attack you, but the gongs on level 3 will open passages into the Thieves' treasure room. All gongs require 3 rings to activate them.

Illusionary treasure lies on the floor of level one, apparently unguarded. Touching this treasure sets off an alarm that will summon the Thieves to defend their tower.

Treasure chests on level three will yield great treasure or great damage. Check your clairvoyance spell before opening any of them. The Ali Baba chest requires a password to open. It is "OPEN SESAME."

The Manual of Master Thievery should only be read by Ninjas and Thieves. All others will suffer damage.

A book marked "For the eyes of the Prince only" will eradicate any character who is not a Prince of Thieves (a title received in Clouds of Xeen). A Prince will gain 5 levels for reading the book.

The Jewel of Ages can be found at location ① on level three. Return the Jewel to Thaddeus, Keeper of the Fountain, in area F4 to restore the Fountain of Youth.

The Book of Fantastic Knowledge is on level four. Only Sorcerers, Rangers, and Archers should read from it; all others take damage.

The Book of Great Power is also on level four. Anyone can read from it, but it will strip characters of all their secondary skills (including Thievery!) Reading from the book will grant five levels once per character.

The Fountain of Life at location ② will grant a free level, but it will age the drinker fifty years. This aging can be cured by drinking from the fountain of youth.

The Fountain of Minimal Abilities at location ③ will raise any statistic that is less than 10 by 10 for any character. The effects are permanent.

A magical statue rests in an alcove in the center of the tower on the first level at location b. This is one of the statues stolen from Luna the Druid in area A3.

Wall fountains will improve a character's

Castles

There are three castles on Darkside, none of which require a key to enter. Castle Kalindra, however, is out of phase and divided into four parts, requiring you to give five Energy Disks per part to Ellinger so that he can restore the castle to reality. You will also be unable to access the lower levels of castle Blackfang unless Ambrose, the Queen's Knight, flies you in. Castle Alamar is open to all who wish to enter.

Castle Kalindra

No key is required to enter Castle Kalindra, but the castle is out of phase and needs to be restored to reality before it can be entered. You will need to give five Energy Disks per level to Ellinger so that he can restore the castle.

Fireplaces often have hidden buttons that will open up new areas of the castle. If you can't find any way into some part of the castle, try searching the fireplaces and pressing the buttons you find.

Wall safes are usually hidden behind tapestries and can be opened by entering the correct combination. Your Thief or Ninja can tell what the combination to a safe is if he is good enough. Wall safes contain everything from armor to Energy Disks.

Barrels of brew will increase your statistics if you drink from them. Queen's brew will raise personality and Knight's brew will raise might.

The sundial on level three will activate the mirror portals. Mirror portals will take you to most places with a name on the map.

Dimitri, Captain of the Guard, is too despondent over the Queen's capture to do anything. If you bring him the Songbird of Serenity he will do what he can to help you rescue the Queen.

Megan, Dimitri's daughter, will give you the key to the Dungeon of Lost souls if you visit her. The Songbird of Serenity is in the Dungeon of Lost Souls. Both Megan and Dimitri are on level two of the castle.

Ambrose will help you get into the castle once you have paid to have his griffin's bridle enchanted. See the Ambrose quest in area B2 for more information.

- ① Queen Kalindra
- ② Count Blackfang
- ⊕ Trap

Traps are located in inconvenient locations throughout the castle. We have marked the traps with an ⊕ on the map to help you avoid them.

Count Blackfang sleeps in his coffin at location ②. You must slay the Count before you can walk down the stairs to visit Queen Kalindra.

Queen Kalindra languishes at location ①.

When you first visit her she will give you the combination to her safe back on level three of Castle Kalindra. You will need to take her crown from the safe and return it to her in this castle. Once you do so she will provide you with the key to the Great Pyramid.

Coffins with vampires in them abound in Castle Blackfang. Some of the coffins contain treasure (plus an undead occupant). The treasure items are fairly powerful, so it may be worth your while to search the coffins.

Castle Blackfang Dungeon

Castle Alamar

Nothing stops you from entering Castle Alamar anytime you like. The castle is a difficult place to adventure in, however. When you finally have Corak in his Soulbox, Castle Alamar is the final stop in the game.

- ① Sheltem /Alamar
- ② Prince Roland
- ③ Exit to Clouds of Xeen

Sundials on level two must all be set to nine. When the four dials are set, it is safe to take the path to the center of level two to answer the question of the statue there. The answer is "SHELTEM". Once you have done this, you will be permitted to climb the stairs to level three.

Level three is composed of a mass of elemental squares that will drop you down to level one if you step on the wrong ones. We have drawn the correct path on your map for you to follow.

Sheltem awaits you at the end of level three at location ①. If you do not have Corak in the Soulbox, you will die. If you do, then congratulations! You will win the game and see the Darkside endgame.

Prince Roland can be found at location ②. To get to him, you will have to get several items from the other side of the world. Refer to the World of Xeen section for more information on this subject.

A passage to Shangri-La on the other side of the world is located at ③. You can use this passage to move between the two games if you have Clouds of Xeen on your hard drive.

Castle Alamar Dungeon

Dungeons

There are two bona fide dungeons in Darkside, plus the Great Pyramid. As with just about all structures in Darkside, a key is required to enter each. It is not necessary to finish the Temple of Bark to win the game, but the Temple will improve your characters' statistics. The Temple is a good head start to surviving the walk to Sandcaster from Castlevew.

Temple of Bark

The Temple of Bark should be the first dungeon you attempt. Nibbler the Monkeydog has the key in area B3, but you will have to bring him a Monga Melon before he will even TELL you he has the key. Nibbler will ask you to visit the Temple of Bark and then return to him before he gives you the key. When you have done that, he will demand a second Monga Melon. Once you have brought him the second Monga Melon, Nibbler will give you the key to the Temple of Bark.

Strange text in books can be found all over the Temple of Bark. Only a linguist can decipher these works.

Ceiling spears on levels one and two will come down hard on party members who walk in the middle of large rooms or through archways. We have marked each such trap with an ☉ on the map. Use the jump spell to get past these locations when they block your way.

Magic walls will appear in front of the party in some locations. Just back up a step and cast the jump spell to get past these barriers.

Colored potions await drinkers on the first and second levels. Each potion is good for three drinks, then vanishes. Refer to the potion key in the appendix of this clue book to determine what each potion will do.

Black Barrels are explosive and will destroy everything in a room if they are opened. The barrels will damage your characters as well.

Prisoners of the Orcs are kept in cages to await sacrifice to the Orcs' bloody god. Releasing prisoners will win experience. Releasing the sprite in the central room of level three will win the gratitude of the sprites in the forest above the Temple.

Dials set in the walls on level four can be turned in four directions. Set the western dials to one, the northern to two, and the eastern to three. Once that is done, pull the only lever on level four and drink from the fountain to become a disciple of Bark. Only disciples of Bark can descend to level five.

Gem devouring skulls inhabit level five. If you feed the skulls to the south five gems each, they will activate the four fountains in the fruit rooms. These fountains will increase elemental resistance in characters whose resistance is below 50. If you feed the skulls to the north five gems each, you will release the horrible Barkman from his prison in the central chamber of level five. Barkman has 40000 hit points and does a lot of damage when he hits. If you manage somehow to slay Barkman, you will gain access to the huge treasures in the chests on this level.

Dungeon of Lost Souls

The key to the Dungeon of Lost Souls is in the hands of Megan, daughter of Dimitri, Captain of the Guard. You will have to have restored the first two levels of Castle Kalindra before you can visit them. At the bottom of this dungeon is the Songbird of Serenity. You must give the songbird to Dimitri so that he can carry on with his duties.

① Songbird of Serenity

Hourglasses on level one must be turned over before you descend. If you don't turn them all, you will be punished for it later. There are only four hourglasses to turn.

Four levers on level two must be pulled before you can descend to level three. We have marked the levers with an Ⓢ on your map.

Four dials on level three must be turned up before you can pull the lever (marked with an x). Once you pull the lever you must drink from all of the positive soul waters before you descend to the next level.

Pull the levers marked as letters on your level four map in alphabetical order to descend to level five.

The Songbird of Serenity is at location ① on level five. There are other songbirds here as well. Freeing them will increase your party's statistics.

An important message is spelled out in the walls of level five.

Great Pyramid

The Great Pyramid is the home of the Dragon Pharaoh, Guardian of Xeen. The key to the pyramid is in the hands of the Queen. You will have to free Queen Kalindra from the Vampires of Castle Blackfang before she will give you the key. Be well protected against elements before entering the Great Pyramid.

Six Torches on level one near the entrance to the pyramid must be lit before you can ascend to the next level. Each torch can be lit by pulling one of the six levers marked by an ☉ on your map.

A series of riddles on level one refer to the numbers 3,4,5,6,7,8,9, and 10. Answer each riddle correctly and pull the lever in the small room to the south of the riddles. A passage will open in the southeast corner of the riddle room, allowing access to a huge treasure trove.

A simple arithmetic riddle will be asked on level two before you can ascend to level three. The answer is 1701 and can be worked out by visiting the statues on level two.

Level three is a spiral that leads to a staircase to level four. There are four locations on the level that will teleport you to an earlier position in the level. These teleports are marked on the level three map and can be overcome by jumping over them.

The Dragon Pharaoh resides on level four. He will direct you to investigate Corak's ship when you first visit him. You will need to visit the Pharaoh a few times before you win the game.

The Brew of Pure Power should not be touched under any circumstances. The Brew will eradicate characters foolish enough to drink from it.

A single wall safe is hidden in the Pharaoh's quarters. The wall safe's combination is 20,30,1.

Outdoor Areas

There are 24 outdoor areas in Darkside. We have grouped them into six zones with four areas in them for the cluebook. Each map has a name like "A1" or "B3". You can find the name of a map by looking at the map that came with your copy of Darkside of Xeen. There are six letters printed across the top of the map (A-F) and four numbers printed on the side (1-4). Simply cross-reference the letters with the numbers to find the name of the map.

Outdoors Areas

A1,A2,B1,B2

This area is mostly lava and mountains. Castle Alamar squats in the center of the lava mass, and Necropolis lies at the edge of the Desert of Doom in area B2. This is not a friendly area, and the monsters here are among the toughest in the game. Avoid coming here until your characters are very powerful.

Ambrose, the Queen's Knight, needs help taming a griffin he has caught near Griffin Pass. He is suspicious of strangers, however, and will ask you who sent you to him. Tell him that "DIMITRI" sent you. Once the introductions are out of the way, Ambrose will ask you to take a bridle to Natasha the Enchantress in Sandcaster for enchanting. The enchantment will cost 50,000 gold pieces. When you have enchanted the bridle, bring it back to Ambrose so that he can use the griffin to fly you into Castle Blackfang.

Two strange spacecraft have crashed in this region. You will be unable to enter one of them until you have visited the Dragon Pharaoh.

Genies in lamps will reward adventurers who free them... usually. Some genies have spent so much time in their lamps that they have grown bitter. These genies will take their anger out on the first person they see. One more warning: If a genie offers all of his money, don't take it! The genie will resent you and gain revenge at a later date.

Freeda the Mountaineer will teach you the Mountaineering skill in area B2 for 5,000 gold per character. Two of your characters must have the skill before you will be able to climb mountains.

Barbarian Archer camps should be left alone, if you intend to get along with the Barbarians later. Destroying the camps will make the Barbarians hate you.

Area B1 & B2

Outdoor Area A3,A4,B3,B4

This region is the safest place in Darkside. Castleview is on the edge of the River of Wrath in area A3, while Castle Kalindra lies near the edge of the world in the same area. No monster in this region should present much of a challenge, even to weak characters.

Castle Kalindra is out of phase and cannot be entered without first giving five Energy Disks to Ellinger. Ellinger can be found at the top of his tower in Castleview.

Castleview cannot be reentered until you have purchased a town pass from Justine the Thief. Justine is located just outside of town.

Nibbler the Monkeydog wants Monga Melons. You can find Monga Melons in areas A4 and B4. Nibbler wants one melon before he will tell you about the Temple of Bark, then he will ask you to visit the Temple and return to him. He will ask for a second Monga Melon if you return to him after visiting the Temple. Once you have delivered the second Monga Melon to him he will give you the key to the Temple of Bark.

Luna the Druid has lost three magical statuettes she needs to support her healing powers. Luna will reward you very well if you return the statuettes to her. There is one statuette in the sewer below Lakeside, one in Necropolis, and one in the Western Tower.

Kramer the Caravan Owner is plagued by marauding ogres. You can receive a reward from Kramer if you eliminate the ogres near Ogre Pass.

Yog the Barbarian is the chief of the Sardaj tribe. Yog can only give you some food to help you out in your quest, and maybe a little information. If you have attacked any of his people's encampments, Yog will probably attack you when you visit him.

Dreyfus, High Priest of Mok, sits in his tent in area A3. He has been deposed by heretics in his cult and locked out of the Western Tower. If you can find the key and let him in, Dreyfus will reward you from his desk inside the tower. The key is in a small room on the fourth level of the tower that can be reached from the Skyroads.

Four Gemsmiths have shops near Acid Pond. The smiths will turn diamonds, emeralds, rubies, or sapphires into magic weapons or armor if you pay them in gems.

Brother Reger meditates at the edge of the world in area A4. Brother Reger will ask members of the Drawkcab society what it is that the monks of Castleview are studying. The answer is PALINDROMES.

Vespar the Wizard has lost the emerald handle of his staff. The handle can be found just off the road to Sandcaster in area E3. If you return it to him, Vespar will give you the key to Sandcaster.

This region is made up of snow, mountains, and desert. You can find the Great Pyramid in the center of the Desert of Doom. The desert monsters aren't too powerful, but you should be at least 15th level before you venture here. Remember, you will lose four hours per step in the desert if you don't have a navigator!

Enchanted boulders dot the landscape in the Desert of Doom. Each one contains a clue to a question that one of them will ask you. The correct answer is "PALADIN." Once you have answered the question, revisit the other boulders. Each boulder will give you an obsidian piece of armor or a weapon.

Gurodel the Giant will give you Energy Disks if you behave yourself when you first meet him. He will not listen to what you have to say, however, if you have destroyed any Giant encampments.

Outdoors Area C3,C4,D3,D4

This region is mostly composed of forest and mountains. The forest is filled with sprites, wolves, and ogres thirsty for adventurer blood. The monsters in this region are tougher than those nearer Castlevia, but they are still relatively weak. Don't forget, however, that sprites can turn unlucky characters to stone!

Sharla the sprite wants some heroes to enter the Temple of Bark and rescue the sprites in the Temple from the Orcs. She will reward you with Energy Disks if you free the prisoners and return to her.

Graag, Chief of the Ogres, works for Almar. His is a simple mind, though, and is easily manipulated. Threaten him with violence and he will give you what you want: Energy Disks.

Magic fruit can be found in huts in the forest. Some of the fruit is dangerous, so be sure to check your clairvoyance gargoyles before you partake.

Troll Holes can open beneath your feet if you step on them without a levitate spell. Some of the Troll Holes have treasure in them, so you may want to search them if you don't mind fighting trolls.

This part of the map is mostly snow and mountains. Castle Blackfang and Lakeside town are the only two elements of civilization (if you can call the vampires of Blackfang civilized) in the region. The monsters here are especially tough, so be prepared for violence if you come here.

Two wizards near Magic Mountain are camped out in the snow for different reasons. One wants to buy the treasure map you can get from Jethro the Cartographer in Castlevue for some gems. Since you can't find anything with the map, be sure to sell it to him. The other wizard simply points out the 1000 spell points available in the nearby Fountain of Great Magic.

Ector the Woodsman has lost his ring, and will reward you handsomely for its return. The ring is in one of the woodpiles in the snow near his hut.

The Dungeon of Lost Souls is in the middle of the Isle of Lost Souls. You can get the key from Megan on level two of Castle Kalindra.

Castle Blackfang cannot be entered from the ground without the help of Ambrose, the Queen's Knight. Ambrose can be found (if he is not here) in area B2.

Lakeside cannot be entered without a pass. You can buy the pass to Lakeside in Sandcaster.

This region is almost entirely forest. The monsters here are a LOT tougher than the monsters in areas C4 and D4. Be sure that your characters are at least 12th or 13th level before you wander around here. The Beastmaster spell should come in handy against the forest animals.

Thaddeus, Keeper of the Fountain, will restore the fountain if you can bring him the Jewel of Ages. The Jewel is somewhere in the Eastern Tower. Drinking from the restored fountain will remove all unnatural aging from your characters. Thaddeus also has the key to the Southern Tower.

Merchants sell goods at the crossroads for outrageous prices. The goods are worth it if you can afford the bill.

Sandcaster requires a pass to enter. The pass is in the hands of Vespar the wizard in area B3.

Magic fruit can be found in huts in the forest. Some of the fruit is dangerous, so be sure to check your clairvoyance gargoyles before you partake.

Troll Holes can open beneath your feet if you step on them without a levitate spell. Some of the Troll Holes have treasure in them, so you may want to search them if you don't mind fighting trolls.

Skyroads

Skyroads float above the Darkside of Xeen, allowing access to the tops of most of the significant buildings on Darkside. You do not need to cast a levitate spell to walk on the skyroads, but you DO need to cast one to walk on clouds. No levitate spell can save you, however, if you walk off the road and into the sky. The skyroads are labeled the same as the ground: 24 areas of a-f and 1-4. In the four corner areas (A1,A4,F1,F4) are entrances to the elemental planes. You will need to visit the elemental planes in order to win the World of Xeen later on in the game. See the bonus World of Xeen section at the end of this book for more details.

Skyroads A1,A2,B1,B2

Area A1 is the home of the Elemental Plane of Fire. It also contains the top of Castle Alamar. The monsters that can be found in this region are VERY powerful, so make sure that YOU are powerful as well when you travel here.

Castle Alamar cannot be entered from the top without slaying the Megadragon (fat chance) that lives near the entrance of the castle. We recommend that you find a more conventional means of entering the castle.

Genies, both good and bad, are trapped in lamps on single squares of cloud floating in the sky. You can reach these clouds by using the teleport spell and the maps provided. Some of these genies will grant riches, while others will ask you who in your party will die for his friends. If you encounter the wrong type of genie, never try to get out of your punishment—the genie will kill the entire party.

Skybandits will occasionally try to rob you. You have a choice of giving 10,000 gold to them or fighting. The fights are difficult.

Four wagons carrying cargo from one elemental plane to another will ask you what their cargo is. The four possible answers are: Steam, smoke, dust, and mud.

Skyroads B1 & B2

Skyroads A3,A4,B3,B4

This region is the easiest region in the Skyroads. Area A4 is the home of the Elemental Plane of Water. The monsters here are weak and won't give any party much trouble.

Ellinger's tower is surrounded by a small cloud world in area A4. The tower provides an easy access to the Skyroads from Castleview.

The Western Tower can be reached from area A3. You must enter this tower from the sky and retrieve the key from the pile of bones just inside the door before you will be able to enter the tower from the ground.

Castle Kalindra can also be reached from the sky, but you will need to have restored the entire castle before this will be possible.

A rope hanging from a well leads to the surface in area A3. You can use this rope to climb to the skyroads or descend to the surface directly, rather than resort to climbing a tower. The rope descends to Dark Grove in Outdoor Area A3.

Lucio, Boatman to the Gods, will give rides to Olympus if you are Chosen Ones. You can become Chosen Ones by visiting the Dragon Pharaoh at the top of the Great Pyramid.

Skyroads B3 & B4

Skyroad areas C1,C2, D1, D2

This region is remarkably similar to other skyroad regions: A single strip of road, a few scattered clouds, and sky. The monsters here are as tough as anywhere else in the sky.

The Great Pyramid pokes into the sky in area D2. There is no way to get there from the sky; you must go the hard way from the ground up.

Olympus sits in the center of a cloud in area C2. You will not be able to enter without a pass. The pass is available from the Dragon Pharaoh on the top level of the Great Pyramid.

The top of the Northern Tower can easily be reached from the Skyroads in area D1. This makes a convenient entrance to the tower if you can survive the fight to get here.

Lucio, Boatman to the Gods, will give rides to and from Olympus for free, if you are Chosen Ones. You can become a Chosen One by visiting the Dragon Pharaoh.

Skyroads D1 &D2

Skyroad areas C3,C4,D3,D4

This region is very empty. A lone tower marks the sky, and a few monsters stay near the skyroad to dine on passing skyroad travellers.

The Southern Tower can be reached from the skyroad. This is the Thieves' tower, and there are no special restrictions on who can enter.

A lone evil Genie awaits travellers in area C3. Don't open the bottle if you know what's good for you.

Skyroads C3 & C4

Skyroads D1 & D2

Skyroad E1,E2,F1,F2

This region is the home of the Elemental Plane of Air. The monsters in this region are as tough as, if not tougher, than monsters in other parts of the skyroads. Be careful.

Castle Blackfang can be reached from the sky in area F1. Note that you will be unable to reach Queen Kalindra if you enter from this spot. You MUST get Ambrose to let you in to the castle from the surface in order to rescue the Queen.

Genies, both good and bad, are trapped in lamps on single squares of cloud floating in the sky. You can reach these clouds by using the teleport spell and the maps provided. Some of these genies will grant riches, while others will ask you who in your party will die for his friends. If you encounter the wrong type of genie, never try to get out of your punishment—the genie will kill the entire party.

Skybandits will occasionally try to rob you. You have a choice of giving 10,000 gold to them or fighting. The fights are difficult.

Four wagons carrying cargo from one elemental plane to another will ask you what their cargo is. The four possible answers are: Steam, smoke, dust, and mud.

Sky Merchants sell amulets of protection against the elements for lots of gems. They are worth it if you can afford it.

The Eastern Tower is easily reachable from area F3. There are no restrictions on entry.

Skybandits will occasionally try to rob you. You have a choice of giving 10,000 gold to them or fighting. The fights are difficult.

Skyroad F3 & F4

Elemental Planes

There are four Elemental Planes near Darkside.

You can reach them by jumping through the elemental "holes" at the outer corners of skyroad areas A1, A4, F1, and F4. Before you are permitted to enter an elemental plane, you will be asked what you seek. The answer is either air, earth, water, or fire. Once inside an elemental plane, you can leave by jumping through the exit hole you will find somewhere on the plane.

Elemental Plane of Fire

The Elemental Plane of Fire is the most dangerous of the four elemental planes. You will need protection from fire before you come here, or you will surely perish.

The Fire Sleeper sleeps in his throne (marked by ☉), waiting for the Chosen ones to awaken him so that he may prepare for the completion of the Prophecy. You must be a designated Chosen One before you can awaken the Sleeper.

A lone chest awaits adventurers brave enough to take the test of fire from the shrine on this plane. Touching the chest will deliver 250 points of fire damage if you have not taken the test of fire and you will be unable to open the chest. Taking the test of fire will deliver much more than 250 points of damage, but the survivors will be allowed to open the chest and take the riches within.

A statue stands at the center of the plane with an inscription written at its base. The inscription is one of four parts of an explanation of how to fulfill the Prophecy.

Elemental Plane of Air

Be sure to have a levitate spell active before you visit this plane, or you will fall through the clouds. Also, remember to get your business here done before you have to rest or 5:00 am comes around or you will fall out of the plane and back to the sky-roads.

The Air Sleeper sleeps in his throne (marked by ☉), waiting for the Chosen ones to awaken him so that he may prepare for the completion of the Prophecy. You must be a designated Chosen One before you can awaken the Sleeper.

A lone chest awaits adventurers brave enough to take the test of air from the shrine on this plane. Touching the chest will deliver 250 points of electrical damage if you have not taken the test of air and you will be unable to open the chest. Taking the test of air will deliver much more than 250 points of damage, but the survivors will be allowed to open the chest and take the riches within.

Elemental Plane of Earth

There are no movement restrictions on this plane, nor is there any constant danger to protect yourself against, barring the occasional earthquake. Because of this, the Elemental Plane of Earth is the easiest of the Planes to adventure on.

The Earth Sleeper sleeps in his throne (marked by ☉), waiting for the Chosen ones to awaken him so that he may prepare for the completion of the Prophecy. You must be a designated Chosen One before you can awaken the Sleeper.

A lone chest awaits adventurers brave enough to take the test of earth from the shrine on this plane. Touching the chest will deliver 250 points of physical damage if you have not taken the test of earth and you will be unable to open the chest. Taking the test of earth will deliver much more than 250 points of damage, but the survivors will be allowed to open the chest and take the riches within.

Elemental Plane of Water

All of your characters will have to know the swimming skill before you venture here. This plane is relatively benign, though the elemental monsters here are as tough as the elemental monsters on the other planes.

The Water Sleeper sleeps in his throne (marked by ☉), waiting for the Chosen ones to awaken him so that he may prepare for the completion of the Prophecy. You must be a designated Chosen One before you can awaken the Sleeper.

A lone chest awaits adventurers brave enough to take the test of water from the shrine on this plane. Touching the chest will deliver 250 points of cold damage if you have not taken the test of water and you will be unable to open the chest. Taking the test of water will deliver much more than 250 points of damage, but the survivors will be allowed to open the chest and take the riches within.

Miscellaneous Maps

There are four places in Darkside that don't easily fall under any category. They are Corak and Sheltem's spaceships, the Troll Holes, and the Gemstone Mines. The Troll Holes and the Gemstone mines appear on one map for convenience, even though there are many holes and mines.

Gemstone Mines

There are nine separate Gemstone Mines. One of the mines will permit you to cross under the gemstone range without climbing the mountains.

Gem veins can be mined for normal gems or Diamonds, Emeralds, Sapphires, and Rubies. These gems will permit you to buy magical armor and weapons from the Gem Smiths in areas A3 and B3. Be sure all of your characters are healthy before you mine—sometimes you will crack open a gem by accident, bathing the party with some sort of elemental damage.

Rubble conceals Beholder Bats and, occasionally, a powerful magic item. Use your clairvoyance spell to help determine which piles to search.

The God of Minerals will reset all the gem veins that you have depleted for a mere 250,000 gold pieces. Pay him if you are still in need of good weapons for the Gem smiths. To make him easier to find, we have marked his location on your map.

Troll Juice is stored by Trolls for the winter. If a character drinks it, the juice will poison him and raise his statistics by one each.

Hobstadt, Strongest of the Trolls, will give you some unpleasant choices if you run into him. He will offer to take all your gold, take the life of one character, or fight. We recommend fighting. To help you avoid him, we have marked his throne on your map.

Spacecraft

Two spacecraft crashed on Darkside one night a while back, setting in motion the events that put your characters in the place they're at. One of the craft can be entered without trouble, while the other one (Corak's) cannot be entered until you have visited the Dragon Pharaoh.

Both ships have a couple of working terminals that you can use to bring up the personal logs of Corak and Sheltem and other miscellaneous data. Both ships also have inoperative weapons and damaged equipment, so they won't be taking to the air anytime soon.

Corak is still locked in stasis in his own ship. You can help him out by answering the question of the terminal behind him. The answer is "WHERE NO MAN HAS GONE BEFORE". Once out, Corak will tell you that he would like to fight Sheltem, but he must approach undetected. He will not help you until you find a method of doing so. Return to the Dragon Pharaoh to report on what Corak told you.

Monsters

Monsters are that which stands between you and winning the game. All monsters act pretty much the same way—when they see you, they try to kill you. No monster will run away from a fight. Killing the party is a sacred duty to the monsters, and they will carry it out to the best of their abilities.

While all monsters behave in much the same way, (charging forward with murderous intent) the methods they employ to do your party in vary widely. This next chapter deals with the monsters and their strengths and weaknesses. If you are having trouble with a particular kind of monster, you may want to look it up here.

Spells

Magic. In Clouds of Xeen, magic works on a daily basis. At 5:00 AM the new Magical Day begins and all magic from the previous day wears away, cancelling protection, light and other active spells.

Who can cast spells. Most character classes in Clouds of Xeen possess some capacity for magic. Clerics, Sorcerers, and Druids are the primary spell casters; Paladins, Archers, and Rangers are secondary. Knights, Robbers, Ninjas, and Barbarians are unable to cast spells. Secondary spell casters have half as many spell points as primary spell casters.

There are two types of spells: Cleric and Sorcerer. Clerics and Paladins can only cast Cleric spells, Sorcerers and Archers can only cast Sorcerer spells, and Druids and Rangers can cast some of both.

Spell Descriptions. There are 76 unique spells in Clouds of Xeen, some of which are shared between character classes. The descriptions of these spells include the following:

Name	Generally descriptive of the spell's effects.
Cost	The number of Spell Points and, in some cases, Gems that must be spent to cast a spell. Some spells require a certain number of Spell Points to be spent per level of the spell caster.
Object	Who is affected by the spell. Party Member: A single player character. Party: All characters that make up the party. Single Monster: One opponent. Group: Three opponents standing before the party. Cone: All opponents in front of the party.
Effect	What effect the spell has on its recipient.

Acquiring Spells. All spells can be purchased from the various Mage Guilds in the land of Xeen. Many spells can also be found while adventuring.

Types of Spells. Spells perform different services for the party, such as combat, first aid, or general assistance. These three different types are represented with the following symbols for easy reference:

First Aid. These spells are used to heal the Party's wounds, resurrect characters who have died, and remove conditions from a distressed Party member.

Combat. These spells are used to defend the Party or attack an opposing force.

General. Spells of general assistance to the Party, such as Light or Create Food.

Items

This next chapter is an explanation of the different powers, uses, and abilities that items can have in Darkside of Xeen. Most of the items in the game are "constructed" randomly using some simple rules that this chapter will detail. There are a few items that are not, and these items are called "quest items". It is not possible to sell or lose a quest item, and most of the quest items have no offensive or defensive value. Quest items have one purpose and cannot be used for anything else. The only exception to this rule is the Xeen Slayer sword, which can be used as a weapon, but cannot be sold or dropped.

Items

There are five basic categories of items in Darkside of Xeen. They are: Armor, Weapons, Accessories, Miscellaneous, and Quest items. There are a small number of quest items in the game, so they will be detailed later. The rest of the items follow a few simple rules that determine the abilities of items you find while adventuring.

Each item (except quest items) can have one modifier to it. It is possible to find a silver shield, or a photon blade, or a box of light, but you will never find a blazing short sword of light.

There are four kinds of modifiers for items. They are:

Elements

An item that possesses an elemental modifier will, when equipped, affect the character's statistics. For example, if an armor or accessory item has the modifier Blazing, the fire resistance for that character is increased by 25 points. If a weapon has the modifier, the weapon will inflict an additional 20 points of fire damage. There are six different elemental modifiers. They are Fire, Electric, Cold, Acid/Poison, Energy, and Magic.

Metals

Equipping an armor or weapon item that has a Metal modifier also enhances character statistics. For an armor item, equipping it will increase (or, in some cases, decrease) the character's armor class rating. Equipping a weapon with a metal prefix affects the character's chance to hit as well as the amount of damage inflicted per hit. Additionally, a metal modifier contains a cost multiplier for the base item. For example, a silver item that costs 15 gold pieces normally would be multiplied by 5 for a total cost of 75 gold pieces. Accessories with the metal modifier have no special abilities—they are just worth more. Miscellaneous items cannot have the metal modifier.

Attributes

Equipping an item with the attribute modifier increases the specified attribute of the character. A luck sword, for instance, would increase the character's luck by 20. Miscellaneous items cannot have an attribute modifier.

Special Abilities

Only miscellaneous items can have special abilities. A special ability will look like "Box of Toxic Clouds" and mean that the item can cast the toxic cloud spell. Any character can use a miscellaneous item.

Base items

Base items are the simple objects in an item name, such as the sword in "blazing sword". Each base item contains five parts: the item name, the base cost of the item in GOLD PIECES, the item base modifier, how it is equipped, and the restrictions for the different classes for the item. The item base modifier affects one of two statistics for the character. Armor items increase or decrease the character's armor class. The modifier for a weapon item is the amount of damage per hit that the item inflicts. For instance, a short sword modifier is 2d3, which will inflict from 2-6 points of damage.

A character may equip a one-handed (1h) weapon and shield, or 1 two-handed (2H) weapon. Only 1 missile (1M) weapon may be equipped at a time. Other equipping restrictions include one helmet, pair of boots, belt, etc. at a time. Wearing a cloak as well as armor is also possible.

The following are the abbreviations used in the equipping restriction section:

Ar	Archer
B	Barbarian
Cl	Cleric
Dr	Druid
K	Knight
N	Ninja
P	Paladin
Ra	Ranger
Ro	Robber
S	Sorcerer

If a class is listed under the restrictions, a character of that class may not equip or use the specified item. "Max for K" would mean that is the heaviest armor that a Knight could normally wear.

Clues and Hints

This chapter gives answers, locations, hints, and explanations of things that could not be easily categorized elsewhere in the cluebook. Included are a list of the awards, passwords, and secondary skills. You will also find some important charts about character classes, races, and locations of stat modifiers and quest items.

A Beginner's Guide to Darkside of Xeen

Darkside is a dangerous place, much more so than the other side of the world. Before you seriously set on the path to winning the game, you should make sure that your characters are up to the task.

You can get a real head start by carefully completing all of the mini quests in Castleview and the sewer beneath it. Before you leave Castleview, be sure to visit Ellinger once so that he makes the chest that runs away from you in Castleview stop running. There is a lot of gold in that chest, and you will need it for training and spell purchases. Be sure that you buy the pathfinding skill for two of your characters and the swimming skill for all.

Once you have taken all that Castleview has to offer, you are ready to adventure in the great outdoors. Areas A3, B3, A4, and B4 are safe for most levels of adventurers, but the monsters get much tougher as you go east and north. You should be at least (and we mean at LEAST) 12th level before you go any further north or east of area C3.

There are some important things to do when you are exploring the area around Castleview. The first is to travel south of the River of Wrath and find Monga Melon for Nibbler. Nibbler will tell you to visit the Temple of Bark in the Sprite Forest and then return to him. Because you are still relatively weak, this trip will be dangerous, but it must be done. The temple is in area C4. After you return to him he will ask you to bring him another Monga Melon. If you bring him a second melon he will give you the key to the Temple of Bark. Walk back to the Temple and loot it. The experience and statistic increases your characters will get there is worth the time it takes. Finishing the Temple will bring your characters to a level that will make travel to the rest of Darkside much safer.

If you feel you still are not strong enough, try visiting the Western Tower. You must first climb Ellinger's tower to get to the sky roads, then take the sky road to the top of the Western Tower. (WARNING: Don't wander around the skyroads past the Western Tower—the monsters are VERY powerful.) The key to the bottom of the Western Tower is at the top of the Western Tower. Get the key and return to the surface so that you can explore the tower from the bottom up. You will find a lot of treasure and experience within it.

Following the above suggestions should make you strong enough to try winning the game as outlined in the How to Win article later in this book. Below are a few suggestions for improving your chances for survival at all points in the game:

If you have the spell points, always cast the Day of Sorcery and Day of Protection spells. Both make a big difference in battle.

Remember that you can swap items during combat. If your healing characters go unconscious, use healing items to awaken them.

Be sure that your best armor and weapons are equipped—not simply carried.

Try to visit fountains that improve statistics and resistances every day. You may want to set a Lloyd's beacon at your favorite fountain so that you can get there quickly. One fountain in the Northeast part of the map will grant 1000 spell points. The Luck fountain in area B4 will reduce damage from elemental attacks tremendously.

Each member of your party can have a separate Lloyd's beacon, even if they normally can't cast spells. If you find an item "of beacons", you can pass it to non spell using characters so that they can jump your party to the place where they last cast their beacon. These items are rare; make sure you cast the recharge item spell on it frequently.

Use the Town Portal spell to move about Darkside quickly. Most interesting places in Darkside are near a town.

If you are moving from fountain to fountain to increase your abilities prior to visiting a dangerous place, use the teleport spell to get around the outdoors quickly. You will find that you have much more time to finish a dungeon before 5:00 am.

Visit Sandcaster as soon as you can fight off the monsters surrounding it. Sandcaster has a good selection of spells and plenty of statistic improvers.

The information listed above will be very helpful in creating characters and determining which Races and Classes will make the most effective adventurers. Paladins, Archers and Rangers are considered secondary magic users and receive half the normal spell points per level. Robbers initially have a Thievery base of 30 plus 2 points per level. Ninjas initially have a Thievery base of 15 and gain 2 points per level. All other characters gain 2 points per level providing they possess the Thievery skill.

Mirror Words

As you have probably guessed by now, the mirrors in Darkside are transportation devices. All mirrors in the game start off inactive, but they can be reactivated by adjusting the sundial on the fourth level of Castle Kalindra. To use a mirror, just type one of the words in the list below when it asks you "Where to?". All but three of the words take you to places on the Darkside of Xeen map that came with your game. Showdown plays the endgame of Darkside (but doesn't count as a win), Genesis plays the third endgame, and Showtime plays the Clouds of Xeen endgame (if you have clouds on your hard drive).

Acid Pond	Howling Woods
Aging Forest	Isle of Lost Souls
Castle Alamar	Lakeside
Castle Blackfang	Magic Mountain
Castle Kalindra	Necropolis

How to Win Darkside of Xeen

Find the Onyx Necklace in the sewer below Castlevew and return to Nadia the Hoarder in Castlevew. Nadia will give you the key to Ellinger's Tower. Visit Ellinger at the top of his tower so that he can still the chest that runs away from you in Castlevew. You will need that gold for spells and training.

Leave Castlevew and search areas A3 and A4 until you find two Monga Melons. Bring one of the Monga Melons to Nibbler in area B3. Visit the Temple of Bark in area C4 and return to Nibbler. Give Nibbler your other Monga Melon and receive the key to the Temple of Bark from him. Return to the temple, but first visit the sprites outside of the temple and agree to help them. Once you have visited the sprites, enter the Temple of Bark and release all of the prisoners from their cages. One of these prisoners will be the sprite captured by the orcs. Return to the sprites to let them know the good news and receive your reward: Two Energy Disks.

Return to Castlevew so that you can defeat Gettlewaithe's gremlins and extort three Energy Disks from the terrified monarch. Climb Ellinger's Tower and give him the five Energy Disks. This will open Castle Kalindra's first level to you. There is some treasure and skills in there you may want to pick up before you continue on your quest to save the world.

When you are ready to continue, make sure that you have bought the hypnotize spell. Take the road leading east from Castlevew, stopping to visit the wagons and tents you see along the way. One of the tents will be Vespar the Wizard. Set a lloyd's beacon here for convenience, if you can. You will need to come back to this spot soon. Fight your way along the road 'til you come upon Vespar's emerald handle lying by the roadside. If you are forced to fight armadillos, use the hypnotize spell and heroism to stop them from hitting you and to allow you to hit them. Take the handle and return to Vespar. Vespar will give you a pass to Sandcaster.

Sandcaster will present another opportunity to improve your characters and buy spells. Be sure to purchase the Town Portal spell. You will soon see that it's well worth the cost. Also purchase the merchant skill for one of your characters as soon as possible. The merchant skill will double the money your characters get when they sell items to the blacksmith. Note that only the character with the skill gets the benefit! You can also buy a pass to Lakeside and find the key to the Eastern Tower in this city.

The next thing you must do is collect at least five more Energy Disks, along with growing in levels and abilities. Each tower has two Energy Disks in it, and the Ogres and Giants also have two Energy Disks they will give you if you don't offend them. When you have your disks, visit Ellinger in his tower again. Ellinger will open up the second level of Castle Kalindra.

On level two of Castle Kalindra is Dimitri, Captain of the Guard, and Megan, his daughter. Megan will give you the key to the Dungeon of Lost Souls. You must fight your way to the bottom of the dungeon and retrieve the Songbird of Serenity. The dungeon is very tough, so make sure your characters are COMPLETELY prepared before you try it. This means all protection spells on and as many fountains as you can visit before you enter the dungeon. You will also need 250,000 gold to complete the dungeon. Once you have the Songbird, return to Dimitri to cheer him up.

Dimitri will let you know the combo to his safes, where you will find even more Energy Disks. You only need ten more disks, and between Dimitri, the towers, the Giants, and the Ogres, you should have no trouble finding them.

Bring the ten disks to Ellinger so that he can finish restoring the castle. This is the last time you will need to visit Ellinger. Travel next to Ambrose, the Queen's Knight. Ambrose is near Griffin Pass in area B1. Tell Ambrose that Dimitri sent you, then take his bridle to Natasha the Enchantress in Sandcaster. The easiest way to do this is to set a Lloyd's beacon at Ambrose, Town Portal to the town, and pay Natasha her 50,000 gold piece fee. Return to Ambrose with the enchanted Bridle.

Next, travel to Castle Blackfang. Ambrose will let you into the Castle. Queen Kalindra is in the Dungeon of the Castle, so you will need to fight your way there. When you see her, she will tell you that she needs her crown from her safe...but she will forget to tell you the combination. See her again before you leave her, and she will tell it to you.

Return to Castle Kalindra. There is only one safe on level three of the Castle, and it contains the Crown. If you forgot the combo, check your autonotes. Bring the Crown back to the Queen for the key to the Great Pyramid.

The Great Pyramid is another tough dungeon. Fight your way to the top and visit the Dragon Pharaoh. I strongly recommend that you place a Lloyd's beacon here, unless you want to run the gauntlet every time you want to see the Pharaoh. The Pharaoh will tell you to investigate the strange craft stuck in the lava southwest of Necropolis.

When you are checking out the spaceship, you will come upon Corak, trapped in stasis. Solve the puzzle and free Corak. After you have spoken with Corak, use your Lloyd's Beacon to return to the Pharaoh. He will give you a pass to Olympus.

You can get to Olympus through his back door or by use of the Town Portal spell. Inside of Olympus is the Soulbox that Corak wants you to get. You will have to go through the Olympus sewer to get to the part of town the soulbox is in. Take the soulbox directly to Corak when you have it.

From here, all that remains is to get through Castle Alamar and see Sheltem. Corak will take care of the rest.

World of Xeen Bonus Section

This section contains all of the maps and hints that require both Clouds of Xeen and Darkside of Xeen to be on your hard drive at once. The Dragon Tower, Dragon Cloud, Darkstone Tower, Clouds of the Ancients, Southern Sphinx, and Dungeon of Death on the Clouds of Xeen side cannot be entered without getting the keys from Darkside.

The goal of the "third endgame" is to reach the center of the Clouds of the Ancients with both the Scepter of Temporal Distortion and the Cube of Power and all four elemental sleepers awake. If you can do this you will see the third endgame and enjoy the satisfaction of having finished the World of Xeen.

Dragon Tower

The Dragon Tower cannot be entered without first getting the key from the bottom of Castle Alamar on the darkside of Xeen. The tower is very dangerous by any Xeen standard, but it also holds enormous treasure. Take the central staircase when you enter if you want to charge straight through to the cloud world with minimum encounters.

Allister the Druid wants a dragon egg. Don't give it to him. He will use the egg to turn himself into a dragon king and attack you.

A single dragon egg sits in a straw nest of the third level. The only thing this egg is good for is Allister's potion.

Two Tomes of Great Experience await you in alcoves on level four. Both Tomes will grant 10,000,000 experience points to each character.

Heaps O' Treasure are guarded by dragon kings on the top level of the tower. The treasure is out in the open, so there is no reason to just let it be. Take it.

Two chests on level four contain very powerful items, but opening one of them will deliver 5,000 points of fire damage, while opening the other will deliver 10,000 points of damage. Be prepared.

Dragon Tower Level 4

Dragon Cloud

The Dragon Cloud can only be reached by climbing the Dragon Tower. The dragons on the cloud are MUCH stronger than the dragons in the tower, so you will need to be fully armed and armored before you give the cloud a try. The silver key card is hidden here.

Ancient Books of the Dragon can be read if the reader has an intellect above 100. Each one will give two letters toward the answer to the secret of the dragon.

The Well of Fantastic skill will give 50 temporary levels to drinkers, as long as no other level increasing well's powers are still in effect.

Dragon Crystals will deliver 3-5 permanent levels and 2000 points of electrical damage to whoever touches them. They can only be used once.

Crystal Balls allow you to peer into some aspect of the Dragon past, present, or future. Those with intellects under 200 will die.

A large statue near the northern edge of the map at the "eye" of the dragon will ask you what the secret of the Dragon is. The answer is "INFINITY". Giving the correct answer will win you the silver key card and create a number of dragons near your location (you may want to Lloyd's Beacon home). Giving the wrong location will result in party eradication.

Darkstone Tower

Darkstone Tower cannot be entered without a key from the bottom of Castle Alamar. The key can be found by first finishing the Dragon Tower and the Dragon Cloud and then returning to the Castle Alamar dungeon with the silver key card. The gold key card is in this tower.

Five gongs need to be rung before you can ascend the tower. Ring each one only once. Doing so will deliver A LOT of damage to the party and create more onyx golems, but it is the only way up.

A skull in an alcove on level four will ask you a riddle before you will be allowed to take the gold key card from the display case. The answer is "120".

A display case holds the gold key card. A force field will prevent you from taking the card until you have answered the riddle one of the skulls asks you.

Stairs up to the clouds of the ancients cannot be used until you have the chime of opening. You can get the chime in the Southern Sphinx.

Statues will give cryptic numbered messages if you examine them. The messages are arranged in groups of four and can be read if you put them in order on a piece of paper and then read by columns instead of rows.

Darkstone Tower Level 4

Clouds of the Ancients

The Clouds of the Ancients cannot be visited without first getting the Chime of Opening from the Southern Sphinx and the key to Darkstone Tower from Castle Alamar. Once you have arrived here, the only danger lies in falling off the cloud. Walk carefully and you will make it to the end, unless you pass 5:00 am, in which case you will fall to the base of Darkstone Tower. If you think this is about to happen to you, you can sleep at one of the rest stops to pass the time and recast your spells.

The third endgame will play when you reach the end of the spiral and enter the pyramid if all of the following are true:

- ① You have the Cube of Power.
- ② You have Xeen's Scepter of Temporal Distortion.
- ③ You have awakened the four Elemental Sleepers on the Elemental planes of Darkside.

Clouds of the Ancients

Southern Sphinx

The Southern Sphinx will be inaccessible until you have freed Prince Roland from his captivity at the bottom of Castle Alamar. The Chime of Opening is in this Sphinx.

Golden Sarcophagi lay in alcoves, sealed to grave robbers like yourselves. They can be opened by a character with a might of 200 or greater, but each character will be cursed and attacked by mummies. Most sarcophagi have a powerful magic item inside.

Barrels of embalming fluid are stored throughout the Sphinx. Messing with the fluid will cause it to explode and spray the party with acid. For what it's worth, the party will get a lot of experience if this happens to them.

Two candles on level one of the Sphinx offer to protect you from the pendulums and guillotines. The price is high, but saying no will put you right in the middle of the traps. If you must choose between traps, remember that guillotines do twice as much damage as pendulums. Don't buy clues from the candles.

Hieroglyphics adorn the walls all over the sphinx. Only a linguist can decipher them. Most are clues to the "What's my name" question at the stairs up to level two.

Treasure piles may be either illusions or real. Good luck picking the right ones...

One set of stairs leading up will repel characters who are cursed. You can fix this condition if you visit a temple or cast the Divine Intervention spell. If your characters are not cursed you will be asked the question: "What is my name?". The answer is "PICARD".

Thrones of the Legends should not be sat in by non-legendary characters. There is no special reward for sitting in them.

Picard the aged sits on his throne on level two. Picard wants a widget before he will give you the Chime of Opening. You can get a widget by finding the ever hot lava rock and giving it to Halon the Efficient on this side of the world. Halon will give you a widget for your efforts. Halon can be found at area B3, 9, 6. The lava rock can be found at E2, 7, 11.

Southern Sphinx Level Dungeon

Dungeon of Death

The Dungeon of Death is the hardest dungeon in the game. Nothing here has anything to do with winning the game. This dungeon is strictly for people who want to give themselves a challenge. The key to this dungeon is in the hands of Sandro the Lich in Necropolis on Darkside.

The first level is a maze of water. It really is a crossword puzzle, and we have filled out the answers for you in the map provided. You will be unable to descend to lower levels until you have solved the entire puzzle.

The second level is much simpler than the first and most of the dials do nothing. We have marked the two dials that open the way to the stairs down to the next level. Open coffins at your own risk.

Level three is also relatively simple. Never walk on a treasure pile—it will force you to start over. All you have to do is ring the four gongs and pull the lever near the stairs up. Doing this will remove the block (⊕ on your map) and allow you to descend.

Level four is full of Lord Xeen monsters. You will need a Xeen Slayer sword to defeat them... and you can get Xeen Slayer swords by telling a mirror on the Clouds of Xeen side "I lost it". There is a main computer terminal that will grant you an award simply for reaching it, and a second reward for answering the code question correctly. The answer is "COMPUTER".

How to Win the World of Xeen

Before trying to finish the World of Xeen, first complete both Darkside of Xeen and Clouds of Xeen. You will need the Scepter of Temporal Distortion and the Cube of Power to finish the World of Xeen.

Visit the elemental planes on Darkside and awaken the elemental Sleepers. If you have the Cube and the Scepter and have awakened the Sleepers, you are ready to complete the World of Xeen.

Unfortunately, this is not easy. Visit the bottom of Castle Alamar and get the key to the Dragon Tower. Use the key to climb the tower to the Dragon Cloud above it. Find the Silver Key Card on the Dragon Cloud.

Bring the Silver Key Card back to the bottom of Castle Alamar and show it to the skull that rests in the same room you found the key to the Dragon Tower in. It will open a stone slab that leads into another room with another skull and the key to Darkstone Tower.

Visit Darkstone tower and get the Gold Key Card from the fourth level. Return to Castle Alamar and use the Card on the new skull. It will let you in to see Prince Roland. Prince Roland will give you the amulet of the Southern Sphinx.

Before you enter the Southern Sphinx, take the time to solve Halon the Inventor's Quest in the Clouds of Xeen if you haven't already done so. You will need the widget to finish the Southern Sphinx.

Take the Widget to Picard in the Southern Sphinx. He will give you the Chime of Opening. The chime will get you through the barrier in Darkstone Tower.

Once on the Clouds of the Ancients take the path to the center of the map. A pyramid and the third endgame await you.
